The following document cited in the international search reports has been taken into account in this written opinion:

D1 CN1272402A

The subject matter of claims 1-3 are about an UV-resistant material. The subject matter of claims 4-8 are about its process. The subject matter of claims 9-11 are about its use. Because the above-mentioned document did not teach or suggest the UV-resistant material having the same or similar characteristics, its process and its use, claims 1-11 are considered to be novel and inventive in comparison with the prior art. They meet the criteria set under the PCT Article 33(2) and 33(3). Because the claims 1-11 can be achieved, they meet the criteria set under the PCT Article 33(4).
